We, MEF NUTRI SCIENCE GIDA A.Ş., hereby declare that:

- The shelf life of each product we manufacture is determined based on internal stability studies, raw material characteristics, packaging materials, and storage conditions.
- Shelf life is defined as the period during which the product maintains its intended quality, safety, and functionality when stored under recommended conditions.
- All products are labeled with appropriate production and expiration (or best before) dates in accordance with applicable food safety regulations.
- We routinely monitor product stability and conduct verification checks to ensure compliance with declared shelf life specifications.
- Products should be stored in accordance with the conditions indicated on the product label or specification sheet to ensure full shelf life is maintained.

This statement is based on current product knowledge and regulatory standards, and may be revised if significant changes occur in formulation, packaging, or regulations.
